

Season 2 Episode 10

Datatic Insecticide

A city somewhere in the Ultraverse is going about its business as usual where normal people populate the streets and go about their ways. A large black with green veins round flying ship filled with black towers with green veins of information flowing through them hovers over the city casting a large shadow that leaves the city in darkness. A door on the bottom of the large flying ship opens and a cannon with a green inside pokes down at the city. It charges a green blast and it blasts the city below. The city is physically intact but everyone's brains have expanded to a point where they don't fit inside their heads and they bulge out of their skulls. They fall to the ground in pain gripping onto their heads.

Grand Master Augi is in his office accompanied by a large group of monks and diplomats that consist of, Keith, Ivan, Safron, Dirk, and more. Augi looks over reports that show photos of the flying ship sending down green blasts at cities and the people become mindless slaves. Augi said, "Our information concludes that someone has found a way to create data-based weapons. We still don't know who the mastermind is behind this. Keith knows how powerful these weapons are." Keith said, "Don't remind me. It is still traumatizing to know what could have become of me if my brain got slashed rather than Emma's." Augi said, "What happened to Emma was quite tragic. I trust you still visit her every now and then." Keith said, "I still keep in touch." Augi said, "How was she the last time you saw her?" Keith said, "She has recovered quite a bit. She is not as much of a suicidal nut as she was before but she is still far off from what she was before. I don't think she ever will fully recover." Augi said, "It seems like more people are getting it worse than what Emma has." Keith said, "Emma still seems to know everything. Maybe she knows something about this."

Ivan and Keith are walking down a hall of a mental ward. Ivan said, "Who is this, Emma and what happened to her?" Keith explains (with flashbacks), "Some years ago, another villain from the Ultraverse formed an infamous plot to use data as weapons. He had plans to victimize the whole Ultraverse by subjecting them to more data than their minds can process which would ultimately cause most people to go insane. That is what happened to Emma. Emma was a highly gifted monk and she was one of the best monks we had in the order. That was, before she was sent on this mission. We were sent to dismantle this catastrophe before it could break out. We ended up dueling with a robot with data-based swords. Emma was slashed in the head with one of the swords. Her mind was gifted in which it can hold large amounts of information. The data in the blade supposedly contained all the information that could possibly be known in the Ultraverse. It made her even smarter but at a high cost. Now that she knows everything, she is not herself anymore. No one would be themselves if they knew absolutely everything that could be known. No one is intended to know everything. That's what makes Emma a unique case."

Ivan and Keith enter Emma's room where she stands in front of a chalkboard filled with equations that don't make sense to average people. Emma spots Ivan and Keith and she said, "Keith, you have come back again and you brought a friend." Keith said, "This is Ivan. He is a unique and gifted monk." Emma said, "Oh yes. I know all about Ivan. He's a real special monk for sure. Ivan is the legendary Yin-Yangite. There was a prophecy about him that turned out to be wrong. Yin-Yangites really are a fascinating species. They are a species that relies on the perfect balances of justice and injustice. I would know since I know everything." Keith said, "Yes well, we have come to you asking for your information. What do you know about this?" Keith hands a report with photos of the round ship sending data down onto worlds all over the Ultraverse. Emma looks over the report and she said, "He finally did it." Ivan and Keith say, "Who did it?" Emma said, "This is the work of Nevel Coors. He was a basement dwelling unemployed guy that couldn't get a job anywhere. He learned of what data-based weapons were and he decided the only way he could become something in the Ultraverse was by utilizing them. He managed to find the source code and a copy of the database for these weapons and he manipulated them to make his victims take his side. He soon formed armies of people to help him construct a large flying craft that is fully loaded with data weapons. He has plans to use this data to make the entire Ultraverse work for him. He plans on attacking the Ultraverse mainland eventually." Ivan said, "How does she know all of this?" Keith said, "She knows everything. I think we could make use of her."

Keith and Ivan have Emma with them in Augi's office. Emma draws out detailed plans of what Nevel's main mothership looks like and she writes out accurate technical information next to the plans. Augi said, "This is impressive. Now we have a plan. These specs indicate that Nevel's ship is filled with data-based weapons that could strike at any moment. The Emma we have now is a powerful asset to us but it was given to us at a high price. We cannot risk any more of our monks becoming like Emma. We will send a small team to penetrate the ship. We will send Emma with Ivan." Keith said, "For all due respect, I should be on this team too. I know a lot about these data-based weapons and my sword has been proven to be quite effective against them." Augi said, "I am sorry Keith but you are too valuable to lose. You are the most valuable monk in the order. You will be stationed on the monk transport we will use. You will control the ship with Safron and Dirk and you will be responsible for watching out for hazards that may attack the transport. We are sending Ivan since he is a very unique monk and evidence suggests that his Yin-Yangite physiology may have a different impact on this data.”

Ivan and Emma ride on a monk transport being piloted by Safron, Dirk, and Keith. Safron looks over a computer and she said, “We have detected the point to make the incision at.” Safron controls the ship and it locks onto part of the ship and it drills an incision in the ship creating an opening. Ivan and Emma climb into Nevel’s ship.

Ivan and Emma walk on a catwalk that is loosely suspended high over a lake of a black and green streaked liquid. Ivan looks down and he said, “What is this stuff?” Emma said, “This is liquid data. It serves as an isotope for the data-based weapons that Nevel has in his ever-expanding arsenal. It does have a few traps though.” Ivan said, “What do you...” Ivan steps on part of the catwalk and it breaks and he grabs onto a metal suspension wire and hangs there. Emma said, “That’s what I mean. Come with me. I know where everything is.” Emma picks up Ivan and she walks down the catwalk making very precise steps at very precise points.

Ivan and Emma walk down a hall where there are veins of data flowing through the walls. Emma said, “This is all the data in his ship. It serves as a main nervous system and a means of transmitting power.” Doors in the walls open and large blocky black robots with green data veins jump out of the walls and they fire green and black balls at Ivan and Emma. Ivan draws out his sword and he dodges the balls. Ivan slashes at the robots and it does not even scratch them. Emma said, “Nevel was able to create solid matter from data. It is indestructible to our normal weapons.” Ivan said, “How are we going to destroy these things?” Emma said, “The only way we can destroy them is by using the data bombs they are throwing at us.” The robots shoot more green and black balls at Ivan and Emma. Emma grabs the balls while they are still in the air and she throws them into the robots. The balls explode and they give off data-based liquids that melt the robots to a point where they are nothing but melted data.

Ivan and Emma come across a somewhat narrow hall passage that has green lasers emitting from all the walls. Emma said, “These lasers contain data. There is a way to get through this without making contact.” Emma grabs onto Ivan and she carefully takes him through the laser field with laser precision.

Ivan and Emma walk into a large room and turrets come out that fire data blast beams at Ivan and Emma. Ivan dodges the rapid beam while jumping over another one. Ivan said, "You need to have beyond human dodging skills to dodge these beams." Emma said, "I have a better idea." Emma grabs onto Ivan and she runs through the turrets. The turrets have all their blasts hit Emma and Emma uses herself as a defensive shield to protect Ivan. Emma lifts Ivan to have him dodge blasts while Emma absorbs all the attacks. Emma jumps with Ivan having her spin rapidly to have her absorb all the blasts. They land on the other end of the room where there is a door locked with a combination passcode. Emma enters in the code and the door opens. Emma said, "C'mon. Let's go."

Ivan and Emma continue trekking through the ship and Ivan said, "I don't get it. I know you know everything but this seems a bit intense." Emma said, "Eh, it is nothing. There are all kinds of horrors and traumas in the Ultraverse that may break a normal person's mind, but then again, you are not a normal person. Those data blasts have no effect on me since they have already done all the damage they can do. I also know that Nevel doesn't put his manipulated data for his main weapons in the small weapons. He thinks the effects of data blasts alone are enough to stop any intruders." Ivan said, "Right. So, what else is there before we reach, Nevel?" Emma said, "Well, the map that mentally exists in my mind tells me that we are right in front of his main office and we must." Emma steps on a specific step and the floor breaks and Ivan and Emma are left plummeting into a pitch-black hidden area under the floor.

Ivan turns on a small monk issued torch and he gives Emma a stern look and Ivan said, "Is this part of the plan?" Emma said, "No. I didn't know this trap floor was here." Ivan said, "I thought you knew everything. I guess not." Emma said, "Nevel must have added this after my accident. I only know everything that could exist at the moment the data sword slashed my brain. Nevel has been working on this plan for years and he planned everything before this years ago." Ivan said, "You know everything before the data sword slashed your brain? I remember you said you knew things about the Yin-Yangites. If you know everything, then you should know about the Yin-Yangites." Emma said, "I told you I know a lot about them. I know that they are capable of balancing themselves out in dangerous predicaments. That is why you form into a yin-yang mech with a sword and a blaster when you feel you are greatly outnumbered or you are in a predicament where you feel you cannot win. It is merely psychological though. You have to think you are in a predicament that warrants extreme force from your Yin-Yangite instincts. Augi knows this. That is why he keeps you in the ranks of the monks. He thinks highly of you and he wants you to play a role in his plot to have him rule over the Ultraverse." Ivan said, "Augi wants to rule the Ultraverse?" Emma said, "He's been planning this for years. This was even before he replaced Grand Master Feistar. Augi wants you to think you are special and powerful so he can use you as a weapon. He also wants to ally himself with the Asterix Empire so they can serve as his invasion force against the Ultraverse. Ivan gives a disturbed look to Emma. Emma said, "Don't say any of this to Augi and I don't recommend telling Safron, Dirk, and Keith about this either. Some monks have tried to expose Augi for this and Augi was quick to find out and he made sure these monks disappeared without a trace. It was easy for him since they weren't that significant to begin with." Ivan's eyes pop out as they expand over what he just heard. Ivan spots a light source coming from one of the floors. Ivan said, "There might be something over there."

Ivan and Emma walk to the light source and they see they are standing on a window and they look down and they see the main data weapon from the inside where wires of data flow through it and there is a giant power source in the weapon too. A cleaning robot comes out and it spots Ivan and Emma. A red light on the robot shines and it equips zappers. It starts zapping Ivan and Emma and Ivan takes out his sword and he smacks the robot with it and it does nothing. Ivan said, "Let me guess. It is made from data-based materials too." Emma said, "I guess so." The robot zaps and pushes Ivan and Emma into another window that breaks and they land in front of Nevel.

Nevel is fully dressed in a long black and green suit of armor and is covered with long flowing data tentacles that buzz around him. Nevel said, "Ah, Ivan. I was wondering when they would send you. You are going to be the first Yin-Yangite to suffer from my new data weapon. First, you are going to witness your friends suffer from this." The flying data ship hovers far above the ground of the main Ultraverse city. Safron, Dirk, and Keith are in the monk transport and they view their coordinates. Keith said, "It looks like Nevel is going to execute his plan very quickly." The door to the main data weapon opens and the data cannon comes out. It then turns and it points to the monk transport and blasts the transport with data. The computer systems display screens that read, "Insufficient memory." The screens spark and the systems in the ship begin to malfunction. Safron tries to take control and she said, "The controls are useless." The monk transport is detached from the data ship and it falls down to the Ultraverse city. Keith said, "My sword is a powerful weapon against this data. I know I can do something but only if there was a way for me to get into the data ship." Dirk takes out two of his ultra strong silly string canisters. Dirk throws one of the canisters to Keith. Dirk said, "Take this. It is ultra strong. We are still in close range of the ship. I will bring Safron to safety." Keith uses the canister and he sends a string to the edge of the ship and Keith climbs the strong string and he grips onto the edge rim of the ship. Dirk grabs Safron and he jumps into the city.

Ivan and Emma stand with Nevel behind them as they watch the data weapon that rests across a long narrow walkway in action. Nevel said, "Now that I got rid of your friends, I will now use it to get rid of the Ultraverse city and have them work for me. This is what they get for giving a lot of people a bad job market." The weapon begins to charge again. Ivan runs for the weapon but Nevel's data tentacles wrap around Ivan and Emma and he brings them close to him. Nevel said, "Prepare to have your databanks updated with better data.” Nevel uses the tubes in his tentacles and he injects data into Emma and Ivan.

He drops them and Ivan sees mass amounts of things flying through his head. It is suddenly over and Ivan said, “I just felt the entire Ultraverse go through my mind.” Nevel said, “Search through the new data and you will find that I was destined to rule the Ultraverse.” Ivan looks into his mind and he gets visions of Nevel being unemployed and struggling to find a job. Nevel loses jobs to high ranked people in the main Ultraverse city. High ranked people in the Ultraverse government place more acts into effect that make it hard for Nevel to get a job. Nevel said, “You see how the Ultraverse is corrupt? We must fix that.” Ivan feels Nevel’s impulses fly around his head and they are suddenly destroyed by a yin-yang that forms around Ivan. Ivan said, “You are nothing but a sick fool that just wants to rule the Ultraverse. Come on, Emma. We are better than this freak.” Nevel said, “Emma doesn’t want to take your side. She is with me now.” Emma has a deranged look on her face and she jumps and attacks Ivan. Emma grabs onto Ivan’s wrists and she pins him down to the floor. Ivan spots the weapon charging and Emma and Nevel have the upper hand on him.

Ivan said, “Emma. You are better than this. You must still have all that knowledge and memories. You know what I am. You know our history. You can fight Nevel’s influence.” Emma gets visions of meeting Ivan and of him being the legendary Yin-Yangite he is. More of her knowledge floods through her mind and she views Nevel as being a madman and Ivan as being a hero. Emma releases Ivan and she said, “You’re right Ivan. Nevel is the madman.” Ivan said, “We need to shut down his weapon. Do you know how to do that?” Emma said, “Yes.” Nevel said, “Nothing is getting shut down.” Nevel wraps his tentacles around Ivan and Emma and he squeezes them in place. Nevel said, “If you are not going to take my side. I am just going to have to strangle you right here.”

The ceiling breaks and Keith jumps in and he has his cyan sword of redemption faced downwards as he falls. Keith slashes down all the tentacles of Nevel and Ivan and Emma are free. Nevel sends more tentacles at Keith and Keith blocks them with his sword. Ivan and Emma run off for the weapon. They run over the narrow bridge and flying data defense robots spawn from the abyss below. They fire out data goo and it hits the narrow walkway behind Ivan and Emma and it is dissolved. The walkway is gone and Ivan and Emma are at the data beam weapon that is being charged. Ivan said, “How do we destroy this thing?” Emma said, “The same way we destroyed the data robots. The weapon can only be destroyed by data-based weaponry.” The robots begin to smack down on Ivan and Emma as they stand on a round narrow surface around the weapon. Ivan spots Keith being tied up and strangled by Nevel. Ivan and Emma are outnumbered by data robots that are hovering around and zipping in attempts to crush Ivan and Emma. Ivan spots a timer on the weapon and it indicates it has less than ten seconds until it fires off. Emma said, "I know what is going to happen now." Ivan forms into a yin-yang mech with a flaming blue sword for one hand and an arm cannon for the other hand. Ivan jumps and he slashes the heads off the data-based robots. Ivan slashes their remains with his sword and they are sent violently colliding with the weapon. The timer is at 1 second and the data robot remains smash the weapon and their liquid data leaks out and it melts the weapon making it inoperative.

Ivan grabs onto Emma and he jumps back to where Nevel is. Keith is being choked and his head is blue. Ivan slashes down the tentacles freeing Keith. Nevel said, "You underestimate the power of my data." Nevel sends out swarms of more tentacles and they tie up Ivan and Keith to a point where they are completely engulfed in the tentacles. Nevel's suit of tentacles falls off leaving Nevel completely disarmed and unarmored. Nevel said, "What gives?" Emma is with the armor revealing there is a combination lock on it. Emma said, "You designed this and set the lock code on it before my head was slashed." Nevel said, "Damnit! I..." Ivan and Keith aim their swords at Nevel.

Ivan, Keith, Safron, Dirk, Emma, and some other monks gather around in Grand Master Augi's office. Augi looks at the reports and he said, "It seems that Ivan and Emma have some chemistry together. It is almost as if Emma became an honorary Yin-Yangite. You all did very well. I think we can use Emma for more of our missions." Ivan and Emma walk down the monastery and Ivan said, "What else do you know about the Ultraverse and the monks?" Emma begins to go on a long speech.

Augi visits a holding center in the Ultraverse. He finds Nevel. Augi said, "I understand your bail was set for an amount that is affordable by a high-income citizen of the Ultraverse." Nevel gives a stern and aggravated look to Augi. Augi said, "I am impressed with what you accomplished. I know you have been having a tough time finding a job. I have a job offering for you. It is the offering of a lifetime. I will bail you out and we can get started." Nevel forms an evil grin.
